

South Korea grants special stay permits for Myanmar nationals

Effective from today, March 15, 2021, the South Korean government grants special stay permits for all Myanmar nationals currently living in South Korea.

Approximately 25,000 Myanmar nationals, including those whose South Korean visas are already expired or soon to be expired, can stay in South Korea until conditions stabilize and become safe to return to their home country.

A detailed guide for special stay permits for Myanmar nationals is available at the Immigration contact center. (Tel: 1345)
