

Taiwan extends visa-free entry to Philippines, Thailand, and Brunei

Visa-free entry for citizens from the Philippines, Thailand, and Brunei is going to be extended for one year (expires July 31st 2019)

What Changes

- 30-day visa-free entry originally offered to visitors from Thailand and Brunei, will be reduced to 14 days, as is currently the case with travelers from the Philippines

Visa Free Entry Requirements Below (No Changes)

- An ordinary/regular passport with remaining validity of at least six months from the date of entry (Diplomatic & Official passport holders are not eligible for visa-free treatment);
- A return ticket or a ticket for the traveler's next destination and a visa for that destination if it is required;
- A proof of accommodation (hotel) booking or host/sponsor's contact information, or arrangements of tour, travel, visit, events and meeting etc.
- A completed "Arrival Card" which may be obtained from the airlines or cruise ship company.

And then present the completed arrival card with passport to the immigration officials at an airport or seaport upon their arrival in Taiwan.
